A BILL

To Be Entitled

An Act providing that on and after January 1, 1935, ad valorem taxes shall be assessed and levied in such a way as to permit the payment during the months of October, November and December of the year for which such taxes are assessed, of certain percentages of the amount that such taxes would be if paid after the expiration of the year; prescribing forms for such assessments and payments, and providing for the manner by which said provisions would apply to cities, towns, and independent school districts; amending Article 7336 of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended by Senate Bill 311, Chapter 117 of the General Laws of the Forty-second Legislature, so as to add provisions for a graduated penalty on all ad valorem and poll taxes not paid on or before the 31st day of January following the year for which such taxes are assessed and for interest on such taxes from the date of delinquency, for setting the date of delinquency, for amending the provisions as to preparing lists of delinquent taxes and providing for certain matters to be contained in delinquent tax statements; providing for the release of penalty and interest on certain ad valorem and poll taxes for 1934 if this bill does not become effective until after February 1, 1935, and providing for penalty and interest on same thereafter; repealing all laws and parts of laws in conflict; providing that if any clause, section, sentence, paragraph or part of the Act be held invalid, such invalidity shall not invalidate the remainder; and declaring an emergency.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. On and after January 1, 1935, ad valorem taxes shall be assessed and levied in such a way

(1) that such taxes, if entirely paid during the month of October of the year for which such taxes are assessed, will be ninety-seven per cent (97%) of the amount that such taxes would be if paid after the expiration of said year;

(2) that such taxes, if entirely paid during the month of November of the year for which such taxes are assessed, will be ninety-eight per cent (98%) of the amount that such taxes would be if paid after the expiration of said year; and

(3) that such taxes, if entirely paid during the month of December of the year for which such taxes are assessed, will be ninety-nine per cent (99%) of the amount that such taxes would be if paid after the expiration of said year.

(4) that such taxes, if entirely paid during the month of January after the year for which such taxes are assessed, will be one hundred per cent (100%) of the amount of such taxes assessed.

The Comptroller of Public Accounts shall prescribe suitable forms for tax rolls to be used by the Assessor and Collector of taxes in making such assessments and in crediting payment thereof.

The provisions of this section shall not apply to ad valorem taxes of any city, town, or independent school district, unless and until the governing body thereof shall pass an ordinance or resolution providing that the provisions of this section shall apply to ad valorem taxes of such city, town, or independent school district.

Sec. 2. Article 7336 of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended by Senate Bill No. 311, Chapter 117, of the General Laws of the Forty-second Legislature, Regular Session, is hereby amended so as hereafter to read as follows:

Article 7336. If any person shall pay, on or before November thirtieth of the year for which their assessment is made, one-half of the taxes imposed by law on him or his property, then he shall have until and including the thirtieth day of the succeeding June, within which to pay the other one-half of his said taxes without penalty or interest thereon.

If said taxpayer, after paying said one-half of his taxes on or before November thirtieth, as hereinbefore provided, shall fail or refuse to pay, on or before June thirtieth next succeeding said November, the other one-half of his said taxes, a penalty of eight per cent (8%) of the amount of said unpaid taxes shall accrue thereon.

If any person fails to pay one-half of the taxes, imposed by law upon him or his property, on or before the thirtieth day of November of the year for which the assessment is made, then unless he pays all of the taxes, (imposed by law on him or his property), on or before the thirty-first day of the succeeding January, the following penalty shall be payable thereon, to-wit: During the month of February, one per cent (1%); during the month of March, two per cent (2%); during the month of April, three per cent (3%); during the month of May, four per cent (4%); during the month of June, five per cent (5%); and on and after the first day of July, eight per cent (8%).

If any person fails to pay the poll taxes, imposed by law upon him, until after the thirty-first day of January next succeeding the year for which said poll tax was assessed, the following penalty shall be payable thereon, to-wit: During the month of February, one per cent (1%); during the month of March, two per cent (2%); during the month of April, three per cent (3%); during the month of May, four per cent (4%); during the month of June, five per cent (5%); and on and after the first day of July, eight per cent (8%).

All ad valorem and poll taxes shall become delinquent if not paid by July first of the year next succeeding the year, for which the return of the assessment rolls of the county are made to the Comptroller of Public Accounts. All delinquent taxes shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum from the date of their delinquency.

All penalties and interest provided in this Act shall, when collected, be paid to the State, counties and districts, if any, in proportion to the taxes upon which the penalties and interest are collected.

The Assessor and Collector of taxes shall, as of the first day of July of each year for which any State, county and district taxes for the preceding year remain unpaid, make up a list of the lands and lots and/or property on which any taxes for such preceding year are delinquent, charging against the same all unpaid taxes assessed against the owner thereof on the rolls for said year.

Penalties, interest and costs accrued against any land, lots and/or property need not be entered by the Assessor and Collector of taxes on said list but, in each and every instance, all such penalties, interest and costs shall be and remain a statutory charge with the same force and effect as if entered on said list, and the Assessor and Collector of Taxes shall calculate and charge all such penalties, interest and costs on all delinquent tax statements or delinquent tax receipts issued by him.

Said list shall be made in triplicate and presented to the Commissioners' Court for examination and correction, and after being so examined and corrected said list in triplicate shall be approved by said Court. One copy thereof shall be filed with the County Clerk or Auditor, one copy retained and filed by the Assessor and Collector of taxes, and one copy forwarded to the Comptroller with the annual settlement report of the Assessor and Collector of taxes. Said list, as compiled by the Assessor and Collector of taxes, and corrected by the Commissioners' Court, or the rolls or books on file in the office of the Assessor and Collector of taxes shall be prima facie evidence that all the requirements of the law have been complied with by the officers of courts charged with any duty thereunder, as to regularity of listing, assessing, and levying all taxes therein set out, and that the amount assessed against said real estate is a true and correct charge. If the description of the real estate in said list or assessment rolls or books is not sufficient to identify the same, but there is a sufficient description in the inventories in the office of the Assessor and Collector of taxes, then said inventories shall be admissible as evidence of the description of said property.

The Comptroller of Public Accounts shall prescribe suitable forms to be used by the Assessor and Collector of taxes for noting thereon the payment of taxes in semiannual installments. He shall also prescribe suitable forms for receipts, reports and for any other purpose necessary in carrying out the provisions of this section.

This provision is cumulative of all other provisions of the Statutes of the State prescribing the duties of the Comptroller of Public Accounts.

Sec. 2a. If this Act does not become effective until after February 1, 1935, then in that event all interest and penalties that may have accrued on ad valorem and poll taxes delinquent for the year 1934 and to which Section applies, are hereby released and said taxes shall be paid with the same penalties and interest as set out in Section 2 hereof; it being the purpose and intent of the Legislature that the policy as to penalty and interest set up in Section 2 shall in any event apply to the taxes assessed for the year 1934.

Sec. 3. All laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this Act are hereby expressly repealed in so far as the same are in conflict with the provisions hereof.

Sec. 4. It is further provided that in case any section, clause, sentence, paragraph or part of this Act shall for any reason be adjudged by any Court of competent or final Jurisdiction to be invalid, such judgment shall not affect, impair or invalidate the remainder of this Act, but shall be confined in its operation to the section, clause, sentence, paragraph or part thereof directly involved in the controversy in which said judgment shall have been rendered.

Sec. 5. The fact that millions of dollars in taxes are now due and have been due to the State of Texas and its subdivisions for many years past by taxpayers who could and would meet their obligations to the State Government if a reasonable penalty and reasonable rate of interest were charged and continued to be charged to all taxpayers alike during the coming years, creates an emergency and imperative public necessity that the Constitutional Rule requiring all bills to be read on three several days in each House, be and the same is hereby suspended, and this Act shall be in force and take effect from and after its passage, and it is so enacted.

APPENDIX.Petitions and Memorials.*THE WHITE HOUSE

Washington

November 6, 1934.

My dear Mr. Barker:

The copy of the resolution signed by Senator Witt and yourself which you forwarded to the President has been received in his absence. I shall place it before him when he returns to the city and shall also bring the resolution to the attention of the Executive Commercial Policy Committee.

Very sincerely yours,

LOUIS McH. HOWE,

Secretary to the President.

Honorable Bob Barker,
Secretary of the Senate,
Senate Chamber,
Austin,
Texas.

Statement by Senator Joe M. Moore.

Mr. President:

In support of my contention that the Texas Centennial, as a commercial project or enterprise should be privately financed, I submit the following:

First:—Only one time has a State of this nation supplied funds for the purpose of financing or supporting such an exhibition, international or otherwise. It is contrary to practice for the individual State or States to appropriate funds for commercial celebration.

Second:—I submit herewith the plan used to finance privately the Century of Progress in Chicago, the second season of which was closed October 31, 1934. This plan, or a similar plan, if followed by the sponsors of the proposed commercialized Texas Centennial, would insure the Commercial Centennial without money of the taxpayers being appropriated by the Legislature.

The financial plan for the Century of Progress, briefly stated, is as follows:

"The Trustees of a Century of Progress announced at the beginning that no subsidy would be asked of any government; that no part of the burden should be laid on the taxpayer. In so far as an exposition of this kind was an expression of the pride of the city, the citizens were to be asked to pay for it, and in so far as it served the interest of industry, industry was expected to pay for it.

The first step connected with the financing was the invitation extended to the public in April, 1928, to join a legion of World's Fair supporters and receive in consideration of the payment of $5.00 a certificate which would be exchangeable for ten admissions to the Fair when opened. In this manner the sum of $593,358.25 was secured, since augmented by interest to $634,042.84. This was not used for preliminary expenses.

At the same time an opportunity was offered to the public to become members of the association. Two classes were established—one of Founder Members, the fee for which was $1,000, and one of Sustaining Members, the fee for which was $50.00. From Founder Members $270,000 was raised, and from Sustaining Members $2200, making a total of $272,000.

There was then created an issue of $10,000,000 of gold notes. These notes were doubly secure. First by the requirement that 40% of all gate receipts should be deposited with the Trustee. Second, by the guarantee of a group of wealthy individuals and corporations. Each guarantor obligated himself to the amount of his guaranty. The total amount thus guaranteed was $12,176,000, as against the gold note issue of $10,000,000.

It was the announced intention of the association to create no obligations prior to the opening of the exposition except these gold notes. The remaining 60 per cent of the gate receipts was available for the payment of expenses of operation during the exposition period, the balance to be devoted, to the extent that it might be needed, to the repayment of the gold notes.

Furthermore, the guarantors at the outset agreed to purchase, on calls to be made from time to time, about six and a half million dollars of the notes, which obligations have been promptly met.

On the first of June, 1932, the association had sold or received subscriptions for $7,741,950 of its gold notes, $6,109,156 of which had been taken up and paid for. The entire amount had not then been called for.

The total revenues received as of that date from the sources mentioned above were:

From Chicago World's Fair Legion Membership	$ 634,000.00
From Sale of Memberships	272,000.00
From Sale of Gold Notes	6,109,156.07
Total	$7,015,156.07

This support measured the response up to that time of the citizens of Chicago in expressing their pride in the achievement of the city during the centenary to be celebrated. The funds were used in part for the erection of certain large exhibit buildings: The Hall of Science, the Travel and Transport Building, and the Electrical Group. The space contained therein was offered to industry. At the same time there was given the opportunity for corporations to acquire space within the grounds and to erect their own buildings. On June 1, 1932, the total of all contracts for the rental of space in exhibit buildings was $1,821,856.28 (of which $1,363,978.06 had been paid in advance in cash), and the obligations assumed by special corporations for the erection of buildings called for an expenditure of about $1,650,000.

Results accomplished in the rental of space in exhibitors during the months preceding June, 1932, left little doubt that all available space in exhibit buildings would be contracted for by industry in ample time to provide for installation of exhibits before the opening day. While the extent of participation could not be foreseen at this time, it was believed that the additional contracts to be made would equal, if not exceed, those for the period preceding June of 1932.

The requirements of visitors for food, transportation, entertainment and amusement had not been overlooked. Contracts were made for about fifteen different types of concessions, which obligated expenditure of about $3,000,000 by the concessionaires. A Century of Progress shared in the profits made by the concessionaire after the recovery of his invested capital.

An appropriation of $1,000,000 was made for exhibit of the United States Government, part of it for the erection of a Federal Building. Forty-four states indicated an intention to participate in the exposition. Eighteen of these actually made appropriations aggregating more than $1,000,000.

The amount (in cash or government securities) in hand on June 1, 1932, was $1,605,757.41.

The total amount of cash expended by the association as of the 1st of June, 1932, was $6,859,603.99, of which $4,214,337.43 had been invested in the building of roads, supply of water, electricity, and sewerage, and the erection of buildings. The remaining sum, about 38 per cent., had been absorbed in overhead during the four years of the activities of the association.

In general, the methods adopted by the association were to secure the participation of industry in some particular line of human activity—such as transportation, agriculture, etc.—and having secured the support to create the obligation for the erection of a building to house the activities of the industry involved. The size of this building was determined by the support extended by the industry. In this manner the association kept its expenditures within its income.

The credit established for its gold notes was such as to enable it to dispose of them at their par value. The support given by industry afforded a sound basis for the expectation that the work of enlarging the exposition would continue. There are several sources of revenue which have been available to predecessors, in this form of activity, that still remain open for A Century of Progress."

In support of my position that the Century of Progress has not been as helpful to Chicago and the State of Illinois as has been represented by proponents of the Centennial of Texas, I submit the following statistics from Illinois officials:
